ABOUT GIRLPOWER

The APCH GirlPower program empowers young women to overcome societal stereotypes and traditional gender roles, to stand up for themselves and advocate for others, and to pursue their aspirations with rigor and vigor. Each year, we host our annual GirlPower! Luncheon to honor inspirational women who are role models in their personal and professional lives, and who are making a positive difference in the world.

ABOUT APCH

The organization was founded in 1993 when Debrah Constance dedicated herself to providing gang-affected youth in South Central Los Angeles with a safe place after school to get a snack, do homework, play with friends and be with caring adults. Now, 2023 marks APCH's 30th year of service to our South Central community.

For 30 years, APCH has provided hundreds of young people daily with FREE programs in education, the arts, counseling, athletics, social enterprise, a college pathway with scholarships, and vocational preparation and placements. Since its founding, A Place Called Home has directly served more than 20,000 youth members through its core school day, after school and summer programming, and over 150,000 local residents through family and supportive services including food, clothing, and holiday toy distributions, counseling, voter education, and community organizing.

Just last year, APCH served more than 700 members through daily arts, education and wellness programming, supported 61 APCH Shaheen Scholars in college, provided nearly 1,000 hours of counseling services, distributed nearly 1,000 backpacks to South Central students and 500 turkeys and bags of Thanksgiving meal supplies to local families, and so much more!
